

BECOME A SAINT (in Less Than an Hour!)

“For me, to be a saint means to be myself,” wrote the Trappist monk Thomas Merton.
But what does this mean?

St. Thomas More Church in Darien invites you to a lively evening with

Father James Martin, SJ

Thursday, March 4, 2010 at 7:00pm

(originally scheduled for February 25th; postponed due to snow)

St. Thomas More Parish Education Center

Fr. Martin will show us how the lives of the saints help us discover our true selves, find our way to God, and discover both holiness and happiness in our daily lives.

Fr. Martin graduated from the University of Pennsylvania’s Wharton School of Business in 1982. After working for six years in corporate finance with General Electric Company, he entered the Society of Jesus.

He has authored numerous books, including the bestselling My Life with the Saints which received a 2007 Christopher Award, a First Place Award from the Catholic Press Association, and was named one of the “Best Books” of 2006 by Publishers Weekly.

Fr. Martin is the culture editor of America Magazine and a frequent commentator on religion in the secular media. He has appeared on Comedy Central’s “The Colbert Report,” NPR’s “Fresh Air with Terry Gross,” PBS’s “The Newshour with Jim Lehrer,” Fox News Channel’s “The O’Reilly Factor,” as well as on all the major broadcast networks. He has written for The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and other national newspapers. Visit www.youtube.com and search “Fr. James Martin” to watch his many insightful and humorous clips.

Don’t miss this wonderful evening! Bring your spouse, your teens, your friends, and join us.

Come at 7:00pm for refreshments and socializing. Fr. Martin’s talk will begin promptly at 7:30pm.

St. Thomas More Church is located at 374 Middlesex Rd., Darien, CT.

There is no charge for this event, but donations are welcome.
